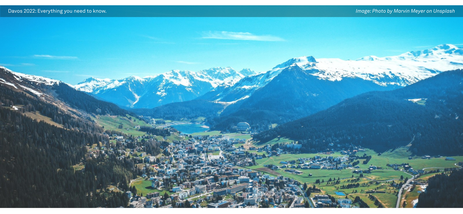
Davos 2022: Who's coming and everything else you need to know



18 May 2022

Gayle Markovitz
Business Editor, World Economic Forum

Beatrice Di Caro
Virtual Event and Social Media Lead, Digital Media, World Economic Forum

- Leaders from around the globe to meet in Davos, Switzerland for the World Economic Forum's Annual Meeting 2022.
- The meeting is centered around the theme History at a Turning Point: Government Policies and Business Strategies.
- Nearly 2,500 leaders from politics, business, civil society and media to participate in the unique spring 2022 Annual Meeting.

The world's top leaders from politics, business, civil society, academia, media and the arts are set to descend on the Swiss mountain village of Davos in May 2022, as the World Economic Forum hosts its first in-person Annual Meeting for more than two years.

Have you read?

Davos 2022: YouTube influencers Mark Vins and Nas Daily go behind the scenes at #wef22

This extraordinary event takes place at a watershed moment in history from 22-26 May 2022, convening nearly 2,500 leaders to tackle global issues and find solutions to the world's most urgent challenges including the ongoing global pandemic, the war in Ukraine, geo-economic shocks and climate change.

Have you read?

How to follow Davos 2022

Davos 2022: What to read on Agenda

What's this year's meeting about?

The meeting is centered around the theme History at a Turning Point: Government Policies and Business Strategies. It happens at the most consequential geopolitical and geo-economic moment of the past three decades and against the backdrop of a once-in-a-century pandemic.

The war in Ukraine and the resulting tragedy calls for global moral action. Leaders will address urgent humanitarian and security challenges as they simultaneously advance long-standing economic, environmental and societal priorities – all while reinforcing the foundations of a stable global system.

Clarity of vision and unity of purpose will be crucial for making progress against the unprecedented complexity of a multipolar world.

The meeting provides a unique environment in which to reconnect, exchange insights, gain fresh perspectives and advance solutions.

"The fact that nearly 2,500 leaders...come together in person demonstrates the need for a trusted, informal and action-oriented global platform to confront the issues in a crisis-driven world."
Dr. Klaus Schwab
Executive Chairman, World Economic Forum

Davos 2022: #WEF22

What's the conversation and where's the impact?

The philosophy of collective action has endured for more than 50 years and it has never been more needed than now. The meeting is the starting point for a new era of global responsibility and cooperation. The moment demands it.

Sessions address: global cooperation; economic rebalancing; society, equity and global health; nature, food and climate; industry transformation; and innovation, governance and cybersecurity.

See the full programme here.

The focus is on setting strategies for impact, building new frontiers, creating viable future scenarios and providing ambitious solutions to the world's biggest issues.

"This Annual Meeting happens against the most complex geopolitical and geo-economic situation in decades. We'll have to focus even more on impact and outcomes."
Børge Brende
President, World Economic Forum

Davos 2022: #WEF22

Over the past two years, the World Economic Forum has strengthened its impact initiatives, which deal with issues ranging from COVID-19 and climate change to education as well as technology and energy governance.

These include the Reskilling Revolution, an initiative to provide 1 billion people with better education, skills and jobs by 2030; an initiative on universal environmental, social and governance (ESG) metrics and disclosures to measure stakeholder capitalism; and the 1 Trillion trees initiative, 1t.org, to protect our trees and forests and restore the planet's ecosystems.

Have you read?

Fostering Effective Energy Transition 2022

Global Risks Report 2022

Catalysing Education 4.0: Investing in the Future of Learning for a Human-Centric Recovery

The Good Work Framework: A new business agenda for the future of work

Who's coming to Davos 2022?

More than 50 heads of state and government are expected to join, among the 300 governmental representatives, to share their vision for the world. Over 1,250 leaders from the private sector will be participating, along with nearly 100 Global Innovators and Technology Pioneers – the world's most promising tech and business start-ups and scale-ups.

Civil society will be represented by more than 200 leaders from NGOs, social entrepreneurs, academia, labour organizations, faith-based and religious groups, and over 400 media leaders and reporting press. The Annual Meeting 2022 at Davos will also bring together younger generations, with 100 members of the Forum's Global Shaper and Young Global Leader communities participating.

See the full list of public figures here.

How do I keep up with the meeting?

Watch all of the livestreamed sessions and catch up on our coverage here.

Listen to the Radio Davos daily podcast from #WEF22 here.

Social Media

Twitter

The official Davos 2022 meeting hashtag is #wef22. Follow tweets on this hashtag to keep up with everything going on at the meeting.

You can also follow our communities: Global Shapers, Schwab Foundation and Young Global Leaders.

Facebook

You can join our 7 million followers on http://wef.ch/facebook.

LinkedIn

Follow Davos 2022 on our LinkedIn page at http://wef.ch/linkedin.

Instagram

Follow us on Instagram at http://wef.ch/instagram where we will promote pictures, reels, guides and key stories from the event. You can also try our custom Instagram filter - find out more here.

YouTube

Livestreamed sessions and videos will be uploaded to our YouTube channel: wef.ch/youtube

TikTok

Follow our account on TikTok: wef.ch/tiktok

Weibo and WeChat

Follow us on both platforms at 世界经济论坛. The official hashtag is #2022达沃斯年会#.

Sustainability at Davos

The Annual Meeting 2022 at Davos will be ISO 20121-certified. The Forum aims to reduce the CO2 emissions of all its activities and, since 2017, all emissions are calculated and offset 100% by supporting environmental projects in Switzerland and abroad.

Read more here.

© 2022 World Economic Forum